CHAIRMAN'S NOTE

In developing this programme, the Centre Committee intends it to be varied, topical and relevant for rail engineers in Scotland.

This year innovation is a strong theme, with presentations on the Rail Technical Strategy the promotion of innovation, especially by universities, and DMU flywheel energy storage.

Of local interest there is a presentation on the latest Glasgow Subway developments. After the success of last year's competition there is to be another young professionals c competition.

If you are in Scotland and are interested in railway engineering, do come to one of our events. New members are particularly welcome. We encourage active participation and would be glad to hear your ideas, particularly for next season's events.

Refreshments are served after many of our events, providing an excellent opportunity to chat informally to presenters and network with colleagues from a wide range of engineering companies.
