

International Network Information

The Institution of Mechanical Engineers has over 120,000 members worldwide. Of these, more than 30,000 are based outside the UK and this number is growing all the time.

The Institution's international membership is divided into seven Regions, who are responsible for our members outside the UK. The aim of each Region is to provide local members and those who volunteer with increased regular contact with the IMechE and more bespoke ways to engage with the Institution and other members.

The key activities of a Region are to support the strategic objectives of IMechE, which include providing a communication path between the Institution's headquarters in London and local members, and facilitating events and activities for members based here.

The Institution's international Regions are:

- Americas
- Europe
- Middle East and Africa
- North East Asia
- Oceania
- South East Asia
- Southern Asia

For more information on membership and activities near you, please see the relevant Near You site on our website:

<http://nearyou.imeche.org/near-you>

