

The 2011 Greece First Open Meeting was held in the American University of Athens Facilities on the 19th of February.

About 30 people joined the event with some new faces coming around. Coffee and cake were offered as the Secretary had prepared a little speech to share. After that we got to know each other with conversations in a friendly and very lively atmosphere.

Overall this event was very special. Everybody in the committee is eager for the next event in an engineering related venue.
